Basic Principles of Physical Space

by Jerry Ratch

a body lost in thought stays hopelessly lost in thought for as long as the latte lasts and the coffee shop stays open and the moms don't gather with their baby carriages and the bums don't bum overly much and the trust funders don't lose too much in the stock market and the bikers don't over-rev their motors and the other writers don't start quoting their own poems
