Pretending Veracity, History Winks

by Gary Hardaway

Pretending veracity, history winks to let us know we can't know history, having not been there, and having been, been incapable of any but our own small point of view.

Mosaics are a trick of the eye, seeming, in their artful brokenness, complete.

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/gary-hardaway/pretending-veracity-history-winks» Copyright © 2013 Gary Hardaway. All rights reserved.