another distance

by Ed Higgins

only after you slipped away entirely without any healing words possible between us

alone again
listening to memory

like soft rain
already halfway to spring

with crocus you planted rising in my heart

there emerald spears
rooted backward without forgiveness

& love at fault
once more.

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/ed-higgins/another-distance» Copyright © 2019 Ed Higgins. All rights reserved.