Snake Eyes

by Larry Strattner

Not believing enough in God
he was made unfortunate.
Neither cursed nor damned;
merely little things.
Missing rides,
running out of toilet paper,
showing up late.
Until, suspecting someone
he had overlooked,
he chose a God.
The wrong One it transpired.
Things worsened.

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/larry-strattner/snake-eyes»
Copyright © 2010 Larry Strattner. All rights reserved.