The Sadness of Being On Line and (Bonus Extra!) The Driver

by Carl Santoro

The Sadness of Being On Line

I'm looking for something on line, but I don't know what.

No, c'mon what are you looking for?

Anything.

The Driver

He had to get over the short bridge before the light changed.

He urged his

Payless covered foot down fast and hard, menacing the pedal and the traffic.

"That burst just felt like a shot of hard liquor."
