

After the Hoopla

by Gary Hardaway

The moon tonight
isn't super, bloody

or eclipsed enough
to merit much attention.

It is imperfect,
eroded by the optics

of light, space
and orbital mechanics.

Less than whole.
It is quite beautiful.

