All the Broken People

by Gary Hardaway

Each personality has its flaw. This one is too compliant, that one, too coercive; this one too assertive, that one passive to a point of pure inertia. We all fall short and fail. Oh, Father, kill us now before we disappoint again.