

The Nudist Camp at the End of the Rainbow

by Jerry Ratch

What did they even invent clothing for? I asked.
I don't really know, she said, if the obvious goal of man was to take it off as soon as possible.

All roads lead eventually to the nudist camp at the end of the rainbow.

