maybe, in winter

by Kitty Boots

if the sky falls and clouds rain white dust the cove freezes over

I will wrap up in quilts that still smell of summer sun curl into myself and listen to the cries of unfamiliar birds