

Behind the Ear

by Mary Lane

She grew tired of waiting for her husband to give her a flower so she picked one for herself.

