

10 cities, 7 weeks, 7 countries & poems

by Neil McCarthy

I'm not sure if this is breaking the rules of Fictionaut, but here's a trailer of a poetry tour of Europe I did earlier this year. We hope to break it down into webisodes soon enough to highlight the brilliant readings, brilliant local poets and such that you can find not so far off the beaten track. I interviewed so many good poets, attended great readings and shared beers with some amazing audience members. If you like it and want to read in or visit these places be in touch or share the link on.
