

Small dreams of a late worker

by Neil McCarthy

She stuffed the stars down her stockings and left;
a quick upward glance of salvation to the money shining in the sky.

