

The Passenger

by Philip F. Clark

You, ferryman, what land is this?

It is your future.

Then we cannot stop here now.

It has come early. Disembark.

I will not leave the boat.

The sea has left you.

