Heron

by A. Pseudonym

A kid who threw a rock at a heron was shot by my gun, after my finger pulled the trigger, my eye having aimed the barrel at his head. He became dead and fell into the water with his victim, and my finger was not sorry, nor did mine eye apologize. As for me, I wasn't involved. The heron would survive, though. When the police came I pointed this out.