

Bitter Love Story

by Adam Robinson

I had an insane dog who followed me from room to room, stared at me with love, bit the faces of children, and died.

At the vet they let me hold her remains, all floppy. That's the last I can remember of Thunder — the dogneck gave no support and the doghead lolled over my arm.

