

Revelations

by Adam Sifre

She drips,
slick with heated words and wet innuendo.

She breathes in roses, salt and motel thoughts, exhales, her junkies crowd around for a taste.

All piss and swoon, and edgy curves;
her mouth, all promises wrapped in words that softly break
and saturate.

