

a confession

by Anthony M. Powers

some days i think to myself that i wish you had half your face chewed off by a pit-bull or a rottweiler or something like that just so you knew that i would still love you even if you weren't the most beautiful girl i'd ever seen.

but then i think that's one of those things best kept to myself.

