

Preparedness

by Berit Ellingsen

In the boat on the way there I knew we'd see something spectacular, and was prepared.

When the glacier dropped large pieces of ice into the Arctic ocean and sent a long wave at us, I screamed and screamed.

My parents had their backs to the glacier and missed everything.

