(From an Awakened Sleep)

by Charlotte Hamrick

pluck me from the charred grate from the rusty barbed wire bit by dried up bit gather the particles the blackened scale and crust cradle it in your hands like stolen moon dust relics of a lost life then blow

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/charlotte-hamrick/from-an-awakened-sleep» Copyright © 2013 Charlotte Hamrick. All rights reserved.