

Starlight

by Charlotte Hamrick

Long slow night moody lumbering freight train the journey of a millennium begins with a rumble in the dark the Milky Way shimmers above a thousand words tremble on a thousand tongues stars cartwheel in zero gravity oblivious to wishes frivolous things miracles are in the mind and stars are only gas

