

Beaked

by David Ackley

Gliding to a midnight snack

no more inclined to you

than to a stump

the rush of air over wing still stands your neck hair up panic's captain

saluted by the shriek of the hare

who knows what

of fear befits

the snap of small bones beaked

