

TBT

by David James

Back then we used to dance slowly to Sam Cooke's "You Send Me" on your parquet floors, whispering about planting our vegetable garden, planning to seed the lawn with centipede grass, promising to count all the red cars that came down the street.

