

The poet. Pt. 3

by Deborah Oster Pannell

I think I remember now why people write poetry.

It's for the times
when the thoughts
are coming
so fast and furious
punch you in the face
jet pack
jelly brain
instant inject
instant noodles
that regular sentences just won't do.

