

Ann Patchett Writes Her New Novel on the Treadmill

by Dianne McKnight-Warren

I write my new poem in the garden
But not like Mary Oliver
More like me
Dirt under my fingernails
Real dirt
I can feel the grit of it
Something that shouldn't be there
But is.

