

World

by Dianne McKnight-Warren

World is making me hate language and that is bad because language is like my thing. Even my computer hates World as you can plainly see.

Every morning I do World. I almost never forget because my memory is still pretty good.

I would think my average World score is around four, around average. Sometimes I get it fast but mostly I struggle.

I read, I think in the NYT, a writer saying World had made them appreciate words. Something like that. I thought it was a weird thing for a writer to say. I mean, like well, what have you been using?

Every morning my husband asks if I got World and what it was. I can never remember. Never. No matter how hard I try. I'm pretty sure it's because I hate the word I just struggled to get.

