

Augustine

by Emily Sparkles

How can your face
be so familiar?

As if I've known you my whole life?

And yet so much
a mystery,

though you were formed inside my womb?

You stretch my heart
in sacred ways.

That I may
better dance
with the Divine.

