

coffee

by Estelle Bruno

Old

She would amble into this coffee shop

every day

Ordered her cup of coffee

When she finished it, she would wave the container in the air shouting "waitress, waitress, another one please."

As the waitress came to her for her refill, she would put her hand in her tattered bag and say
"someday I will pay you."

