

untitled #389

by FM Le

The darkness came.

Your fingers were hexes but so clean
for you to pose my bones to fit around them.
By you, I was emptied
like a dollhouse overturned by a child pretending to be a hurricane.

The darkness left.

