A Quantum of Disappointment

by Gary Hardaway

Reality winks at us then scampers off to hide in another dark corner of our equations. Our measurements once again are off and we must burrow on, chasing what sense and sensibility can't or just won't see smudged as it is with oh so many human fingerprints.