

At the Christmas Carol Bar

by Gary Hardaway

I'll take my Christmas carols neat-no jazzy ice, no rockabilly twist, no bluesy bitters. Give me something aged at least a hundred years in English or continental oak, its nativity sweetness cut by a foretaste of Good Friday.

