Chapel of a Latter Day Agoraphobic

by Gary Hardaway

I no longer want to be in the thrum and thrust of things. I want to be left alone with my crisp white box wine and the news of our sadness and decline. The thrum and the thrust have beaten conviviality out of me. Leave me alone to parse the sad news and write of my own bruises.