

Distance

by Gary Hardaway

We must sometimes see the world as the pale blue dot surrounded by brighter dots and that endless field of darkest dark.

Otherwise, the press of so much disappointing human flesh will crush us dry.

