Gray Lizard

by Gary Hardaway

He can't enlarge the rock can only find its safest distance from the burning light of day and from inquisitive sticks and fingers curious about what might be hiding under weight too great to lift.