

January First

by Gary Hardaway

First purr of the first cat, first light at a first window, first kiss of the first day, first scent of a first coffee.
Enumerate the small delights this bright first morning of an unspoiled year.
If nothing else, you are at least your happy repetitions.

