

Metastasis

by Gary Hardaway

Touch my name with the cursor and watch me scatter. My electrons scamper across the grid that is our proof of life.
I am eternal as long as the power holds among the proliferation of half-truths and general misinformation.
I am numberless attributes
I can neither claim nor disavow.
I am legion.

