

New Questions of Travel

by Gary Hardaway

Wherever we are, we finger phones to take us somewhere else.

Watching water fall in the longest waterfall becomes immediately tedious unless we snap and send it off to other continents airline hours away.

We cannot bear the place we are or is it just the who we are?

