

Song Against Unwarranted Cheer

by Gary Hardaway

If I should stumble into cheerfulness remind me of all the business models bobbing like plastic bags and bottles in a mass across the surface of the sea and I will snap myself back home again to this desecrated place we all must be.

