

Star Light, Star Bright

by Gary Hardaway

By the time
I apprehend the light,

its source has changed—
dimmed, brightened, or blacked.

My understanding is obsolete.
I am experience and information

at a small but irredeemable remove.
I am always and only what was.

