

Stranded

by Gary Hardaway

I have abandoned
almost everything but the poems.

They come to mind
like ice flowers
on the small panes

of glass that I've become-- little windows
of the broken hothouse

framing views of the vast almost substanceless expanse of sky and time.

11.29.14

