

The Dead Make Plans

by Gary Hardaway

Dictionaries begin to fail as meanings of words used to define other words become unknown themselves.
The dead tongues chuckle in Etruscan from the grave and plan parties in Minoan for expected new arrivals.

