

The Monolingual's Regret

by Gary Hardaway

Polylinguists lash me with tongues I cannot conjugate but one can hear meaning without seeing it

as in songs without words and I can understand the polylinguists's angry disappointment that I have but the one tongue and it grows a bit slow and numb in the mouth beginning to disintegrate with age.

