

The Vitality of Stones

by Gary Hardaway

We talk about the lives of stars although they are inanimate like the stones whose electrons circle nuclei of their uncountable atoms — we can't hear the hum and the heat is imperceptible.

