Why I Write- Item Seventeen

by Gary Hardaway

Whenever I catalog the intelligence and wisdom of each acquaintance and friend, I feel I am, in fact, the dimmest and least wise man on earth. Then, I begin to write again and all my cleverness and insight return.