

speed

by Gary Percesepe

for pari

the dream went by this way i woke and held a cigarette the hudson wore winter white you were tinier than imagined & reached up to hug me on the corner of west broadway and chambers we've slept off years in different cities a slow burn of days and speeding nights and then we were children

