

Elixir

by Gyanban

The woods were dark, deep and dense. The starlit sky hummed a tune so intense. They watched the firefly's dance to the dew's romance #love

Lips meet the lips unmet, aroma of the untouched rosette. #Virgin sequoias swayed with grace, fingers meander leaving a trace #ufascinateme

Close to the dancing lights, I stood watching in my voyeuristic plight. Her fragrance ignited my heart alight. She was to be mine tonight. #FML
Crimson dawn cloaks the starlit night, devoured flesh canvassed fright.
Memories flash, as moment's lapse. Feelings trapped, my love gasped.

Crimson dawn cloaks the starlit night, devoured flesh canvassed fright. Memories flash, as moment's lapse. Feelings trapped, my love gasped.

As the throat slit, her redness yelped in vain. The gash and gnash and the bloody vein. Arms danced in a mystic rhapsody, melancholy strain.

Her breast breathed so low, lips mellow. The dove flew from the scathing slew. Gentle drops of blood left a trace, replacing tears on my face.

The serum flows like a soothing melody, drop by drop enters my body. I lay on the table strapped; my heartbeats pound as the devil clapped.

