

Brexit

by Hazem Tagiuri

Reams of saggy bunting
intersect the streets.
Union Jacks catch the wind,
curling into themselves,
like bright birds
huddling on wires.

