Accidental Discoveries

by Ioanna Mavrou

They look like giant golden raindrops, or flying saucers, or peculiar fish out of their element, which fits perfectly with the existence of a mall in Stratford. She is there to look at shoes. He is there to see a film. Mesmerized by the sculpture's movement she bumps into him. "I think they are supposed to be leaves", he says.

Available online at «http://fictionaut.com/stories/ioanna-mavrou/accidental-discoveries» Copyright © 2013 Ioanna Mavrou. All rights reserved.