

Lotis

by James Knight

1

A voice
scratches
her
ear:

*Come
here,
petal.*

Later:
a red stain.

She doesn't cry.
She washes the sheets
and does the dishes.

2

The back door opens
onto a blank night.

A gull shrieks like Mr Punch.

Her blood is daughter
to the sea.

