

Because...

by James Lloyd Davis

...you start out the day in a good mood, blissful.
Then events and circumstance take humor away.
You feel bad about having been flip, amused.
So you take down your laughter, start over.
Or just slipslide away in silence.
This was such a day, you know?

