

221B Baker Street, London; 1:37 a.m.

by Jared Walls

He lays his piping accoutrement
on the bedside table, removes his cap, brocaded jacket, boots and slacks.

Holmes brushes gently, the back of his hand across the confused face of Watson—their eyes fixed into one another's gaze.

